

Existing approaches do a simple concatenation of audio and image features

We propose to use a multimodal fusion which is aware of the material properties of the objects in the scene