on a used car lot the engines have been stolen from all the cars

someone bows then exits the stage with the other dancers resting his hand on his daughter 's head someone bends down and gives her a light kiss on the cheek

Hovering over the group our view turns away from the grassy ridge

He taps the container against the side of the canoe to empty it
