

How much does an elephant weigh?

African forest elephants can weigh up to 5.9 tons, about half the weight of a school bus. Would you like to hear more cool stuff about them?

Yes. Tell me more.

I read on cornell.edu that forest elephants are smaller in size, with more rounded ears, and straighter, thinner tusks. They can be as much as 2.5m tall, taller than most doors.