

Disease names in clinical documents

Standard disease names

One-to-one Mapping

One-to-many Mapping

Explanation:

In the disease name normalization task, disease names written in the clinical documents are normalized (classified) into standard names. A clinical term can be classified into one (indicated in the blue area) or more (indicated in the yellow area) standard names depending on different writing styles. Characters written in different colors indicate different key elements (axis words) in the disease name.
