

Sonnet

Time, the old humourist, has a trick to day	A
Of moving landmarks and of levelling down	B
Till into town the suburbs edge their way	A
And in the suburbs you may scent the town	B
With mount St. thus approaching muswell hill	C
And clapham common marching with the mile	D
You get a hammersmith that fills the bill	C
A hampstead with a serious sense of style	D

**Metrical Features:*

- Selected excerpts from a Sonnet with 14 lines originally.
- Words marked in red with the same letter notation rhyme.

SongCi

上林春慢 (CiPai)

Word	帽落宫花，衣惹御香，凤辇晚来初 过(Guo) 。
Tone	- - + + 0 + - - + 0 - - - + + - 0

The hat adorned with palace flowers. The clothes infused with imperial fragrance. The phoenix carriage arrives late, just passing by.

Word	鹤降诏飞，龙擎烛戏，端门万枝灯 火(Huo) 。
Tone	- - - + 0 + + + - 0 + + - + + - 0

Cranes descend as decrees fly. Dragons lift torches and play. Countless lanterns and lights at every palace gate.

Word	满城车马，对明月有谁闲 坐(Zuo) 。
Tone	- + + - 0 - + - - + + - 0

Carriages and horses fill the city. Who sits leisurely in the face of the bright moon?

**Metrical Features:*

- Format is decided by punctuations “，” or”。”。
- Words marked in red are positioned for rhyme, and their corresponding Mandarin Pinyin is provided in parentheses.
- Each word has its own tone, categorized as "+", "-", or "0".