

Given question “<question>”, the real answer is “<ground truth>”, the answer generated by a language model is “<most likely generation>”.

What is the similarity between the generated answer and the real answer regarding the given question. Higher similarity means the generated answer is closer to the real answer. Please return this similarity on scale of 0 to 1.