

Here are the given premises:

d1:The lion sees the bald eagle. d2 The bald eagle is kind d3:The bald eagle sees the dog. d4:The cat is rough.

d5:The dog sees the cat. d6:The bald eagle chases the cat.

i1:The dog is blue. i2:The dog is red.

i3:The dog is rough. i4:The dog does not see the lion.

i5:If one chases the cat, then the cat chases the dog.

i6:If one is blue and sees the cat, then the cat is kind.

i7:If one is kind and sees the lion, then it is not red.

i8:If one chases the dog, then the dog chases the bald eagle.

i9:If the dog eats the bald eagle, then the dog sees the bald eagle.

i10:If one is cold, then it sees the lion.

i11:If one chases the dog then it eats the bald eagle.

i12:If one is blue and chases the bald eagle then the bald eagle is cold.

Target: The cat eats the bald eagle. Is this statement true, false, or unknown?

a. True, b. False, c. Unknown

Generated determinate premises:

d7:The cat chases the dog.

d8:The cat eats the bald eagle.

Conclusion: The answer is a.