

Are there any differences between these videos?

Yes. In Video 2, the person is preparing to mash boiled potatoes using a fork and a blue plastic bowl. In Video 1, the person is mashing cooked potatoes using a potato masher and a white ceramic bowl.

Which video adds more carrots? Describe the difference in quantity shown.

Video 2 adds more carrots. In Video 2, the person is adding a large amount of chopped carrots to the pot of boiling water, while in Video 1, the person is only blanching a few green beans and carrots.

In one sentence, explain which of the two videos shows the less messy technique.

Video 1 shows a less messy technique as the person is carefully pouring the eggs into a blender, while in Video 2, the person is cracking the egg directly into a hot pan, potentially creating a mess.

In one sentence, what mistake did I make in my technique (Video 2) compared to the reference video (Video 1)?

In the first video, the person is using a knife to chop the onion, while in the second video, the person is using a knife to dice the onion. In your execution, you mistakenly diced the onion instead of cutting it as depicted in the reference video.

What is the main difference in tools between these two videos?

The main difference in tools between these videos is that Video 1 uses a black silicone spatula, while Video 2 uses a silver spatula.

