

State Description

The flour is unknown

The almond flour is in the bowl

The almond flour and baking soda are in the bowl

The almond flour and baking soda are mixed in the bowl

The almond flour, baking soda, and eggs are in the bowl

The almond flour, baking soda, eggs, and apple cider vinegar are in the bowl

Object State Label Inference (Raw Output from LLM)

Judging points:

- The flour must be combined with other ingredients in a recipe, not just seasonings or water.

Comparison:

The history of the state of flour shows that the almond flour is first in the bowl, then it is mixed with baking soda, eggs, and apple cider vinegar. These are all ingredients in a recipe, not just seasonings or water.

Answer:

Yes, the current state of flour is consistent with the definition. The almond flour has been combined with other ingredients in a recipe, so it fits the definition provided.